

OVERVIEW

The MAP 50 this month saw 8 new entries. This is likely due to the post-crash turmoil as stocks get manhandled. The MAP 50 is usually more static in trending markets. Again, this list is compiled by identifying stocks that can be easily traded by Big Money investors: like hedge funds and pension funds. There are usually about 1400 stocks that make-up that list. The companies have at least $500 million market cap, are greater than $10, trade at least 500k shares daily, and have listed options on them. We gather the best quality stocks that appeared on our MAP 20 report most frequently in the past 6 months. We roll-over each month on the 15th. New entries this month are:

- NEM
- V
- MNST
- NEE
- NDAQ
- ANSS
- JD

SECTOR EXPOSURE

Tech is still the dominant sector by far on the MAP 50. The remainder of the sector concentrations are splintered. Notice the near-absence of Utilities and total absence of Telecom stocks. These are rate sensitive stocks with every indication rates will remain at zero for a long while. Energy is also absent as the price of crude oil remains too low to make meaningful margin for many Oil & Gas companies.

HOW TO USE THE MAPSIGNALS 50

People come to us for our signals. We're in the information business. We have information you can't get anywhere else. But sometimes a lot of information can seem overwhelming. Don't worry. We're going to walk you through how to use this report. It's a collection of our most powerful signals. We ran a study of buying only the most powerful signals that appeared over the prior six months. It produced literally unbelievable returns beating the S&P 5,000 to 1 over 30 years. You can read that white paper right here:

Let's invest a minute to break each column down- it'll be crystal clear in no-time:

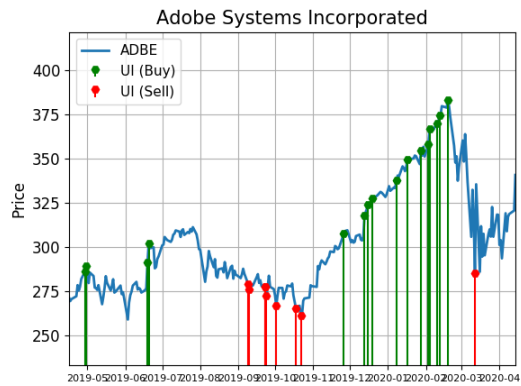

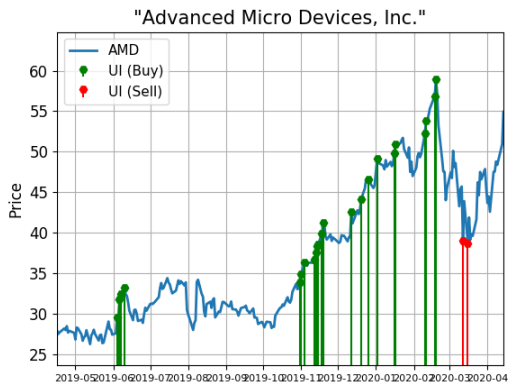

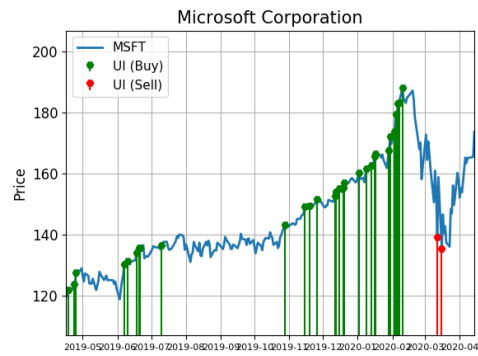

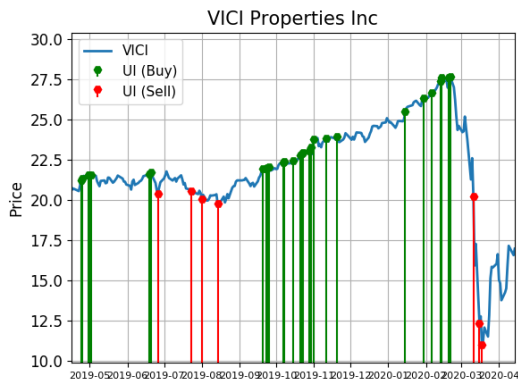

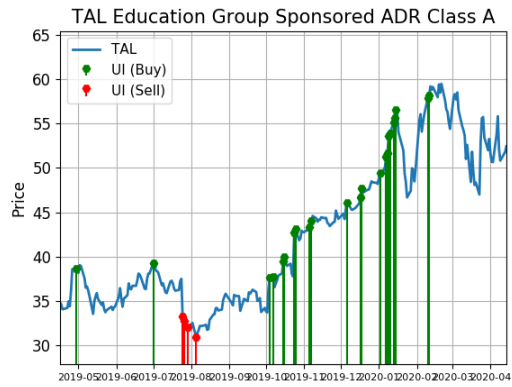

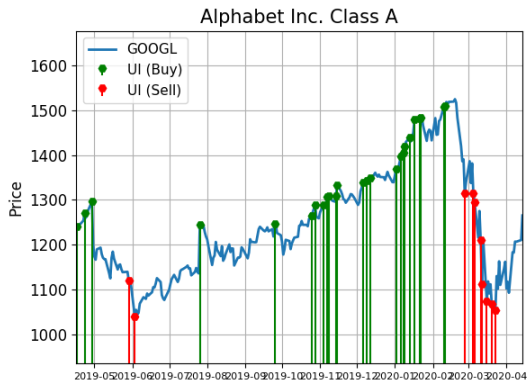

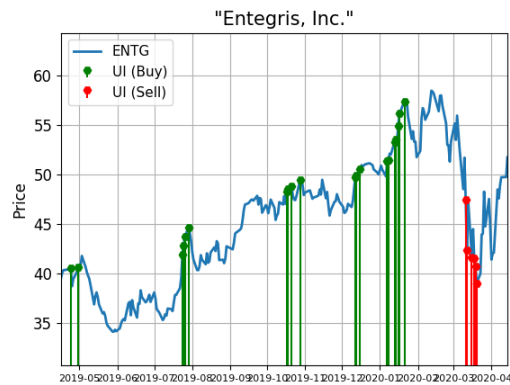

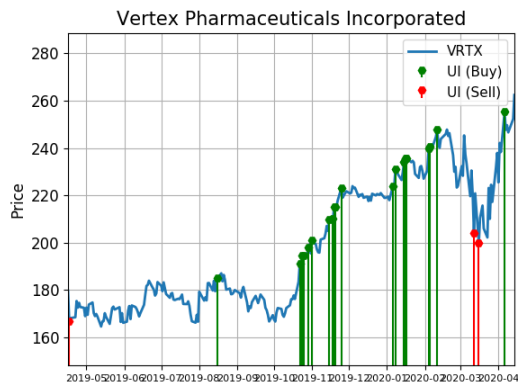

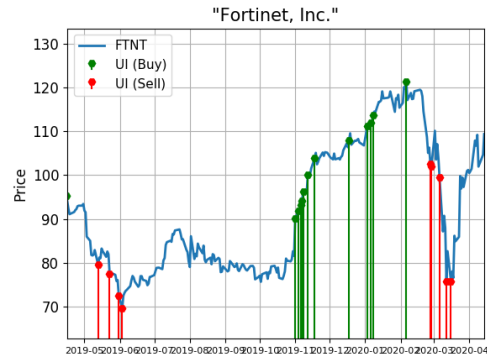

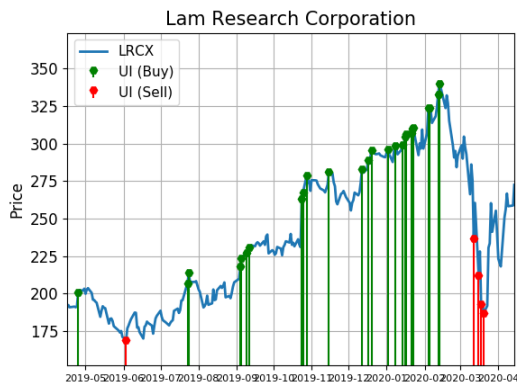

MAPSIGNALS GRADES

This section off to the right of the table can seem confusing but these are powerful bits of information. It's part of what makes Mapsignals so strong at what we do. Let's go over each so you have a clear understanding of what they are and how they can help you. Just like school, you can get an overall "GPA" which breaks down into reading/writing and math for example. Mapscore is the GPA. Technicals are like math and science. Fundamentals are like physical fitness and reading/writing comprehension. Stocks need to be well rounded too!
